

Disclaimer

This white paper should not be viewed as investment advice or as a financial recommendation regarding any particular security or course of action. There is no guarantee that the Implacoin project will achieve the projected results under market conditions that are uncertain and subject to change.

Implacoin Token is a utility token and has not been registered under the Securities Act, the securities laws of any state of the United States, or the securities laws of any other country, including the securities laws of any jurisdiction in which a potential token holder is a resident. Implacoin Tokens cannot be used for any purposes other than those provided in the white paper, including, but not limited to, any investment, speculation, or other financial goals.

The Implacoin cannot be used for any other purposes than those listed in the white paper, in particular for investment, speculation and other financial transactions. The Implacoin is not intended for sale or use in jurisdictions where the sale or use of digital tokens may be prohibited.

Implacoin is not an investment product, but a tool for accessing medical services at prices discounted when compared to those available using fiat money. The Implacoin project team is not promising any future profit or gain from the purchase of coins. The project's crowdsale is not a public offering of securities, and it should not be a subject to corresponding regulatory requirements. However, Implacoin may be subject to current or future local and global regulations, for example, local taxation, income or capital gain taxes, and other forms of tax.
